

Tom Ward

Stand-Up Comedian

"Unique, unpredictable, and able to carry off jokes about the oddest of things"

Tom Ward is an award winning comedian and a club and festival favourite around the UK. Tom has been seen on Comedy Central's 'Roast Battle', Stand up Central and Live from The Comedy Store. He presented the hugely successful Wrigley's ad campaign 'In My Personal Space with Ladbible'.

TOPICS:

- Awards
- Host
- Entertainment

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

IN DETAIL:

Tom has forged a successful and unique path in the industry, with his inventive style incorporating his voice-over talents and improvisation, in addition to his innovative writing. He has done three solo comedy shows at The Edinburgh Fringe, receiving 5* reviews for each. His voice can currently be heard narrating Yesterday TV's biggest show 'The Abandoned Engineerin' (Best International Show Nominee at The Reality TV Awards 2019), and in recent times on multiple Channel 5 documentaries and adverts ranging from Marvel to Tesco, Unicef to Waitrose.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Tom's live circuit presence is a true gem, enchanting audiences with his captivating narratives and astute observations. His performances seamlessly blend a whimsical touch with a deadpan delivery, creating a unique and enthralling experience.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Tom's laid-back and idiosyncratic performance style endears him to the crowd, as he delves into relatable topics such as personal appearance, the vexations of everyday life, and anecdotes about his devout parents. Moreover, his remarkable talent as a voice-over artist, further elevates him as a beloved entertainer.